

HEART TALK

How do you manage to balance regular performances with social work?

Both require dedication and hard work and a zeal to reach out to people. I have been extremely lucky that people appreciate my work in both the areas. As long as one enjoys the work there is no clash.

Tell us about your association with Rotary International...

My husband Amitava Mukherjee is going to be the district governor of Rotary International on 1 July. Naturally, I have a huge responsibility on my shoulders, being the First Lady of the district.

The first of July is marked as 'Doctors Day'. Has the Rotary planned anything special? We will be acknowledging their selfless service to society.

Does your profession help you to serve society? (Smiles) At Rotary we believe one serves through one's profession. Besides, Indians are culturally oriented. Dance is a popular art form. It conveys a strong message — that of human bondage.

Could you give concrete examples?

I have been performing for the underprivileged for a long time. And the response I get is marvellous. The inmates of Mother's Old Age Home were simply enthralled to see me perform. And when I performed for children I even taught them some mudras. They cherish every bit of it.
