WANT to chill out this weekend? Far from the madding crowd, in a fleeting span of time a whole new world awaits to be ravished. The Lake Land Country Club and Resort off Kona Expressway offers a break from the chores of everyday existence. Seeing is believing. Enter what's being touted as the "abode of tranquility". Built on a sprawling 40 acres of land, it is a lush setting to lure, well, "business enterprises". The entrepreneurs have done a wonderful job to gear up the hotel business set against a club culture. The club generates lots of entertainment. Its awesome structure, vast expanses, plush interiors boggle your mind but as with everything tempting, its beauty lies in its irresistibility. The main theme, however, is "to keep our society fit and proper," says AK Saha, general manager of the LLCCR. Sports is a priority. A keen follower of sports, Saha and his men have made sure that all sorts of games facilities, from go-karting to indoor tricks, are there.

La Magnuet, a four-lane bowling alley, opened its door on 26 January. The focus is primarily on entertainment and fun. Here you have a bowling alley that offers a food court, dance floor and a watering hole. The colour scheme adds a dazzling effect to a place that would surely shoot your adrenaline up. Facilities are galore — canvassing, bowling alley, billiards room, swimming pool, cycling, boating, kids' room.

In case you haven't tried your hand at billiards before, friendly instructors are there to introduce you to it. Cool, isn't it? The choices vary according to taste and the depth of your pockets. A tennis court and a golf course are in the offing. The health-buffs need not worry too. There are enough ways to unwind. A health club and multi-gym add a dash of vigour. Fitness freaks can "go berserk" with aerobics, sauna, Jacuzzi, chilled bath, coupled with funky high-end imported machinery. Enough to get you going. However, go-karting seems to be the most exciting, its exorbitant price notwithstanding. For some five minutes, you need to shell out 75 bucks. Children under 12 are kept aside as it is considered risky for them. "I love go-karting. The idea of billiards thrills me but I'm not old enough for that," gushes Palak Sahani, a 12-year-old. Festivities do have a unique charm. "You should come and see how the crowd revel during carnival time. This coming Valentine is going to be a big bash," says housekeeper Subhankar Chakraborty. So folks, what are you waiting for? Let you hair down and have a gala time.
